

Growing more of our food locally

How must we change the way we use our land in order to feed ourselves in a future governed by climate change and oil depletion while remaining environmentally sustainable and in harmony with nature?

We invite you to a talk from three local speakers:

Dorienne Robinson – long term green activist, vegan and commercial horticulturist

Sian Meredudd – vegan and stock-free gardener for 30yrs

Dave Burrige – experienced local grower and teacher

7.00pm, Tuesday 22nd November

Herb Garden Café

Free entry and refreshments

All welcome
